

PIONEER CROSSES GREAT DIVIDE

Douglas Church Who Came Over Santa Fe Trail in 1853 Passes To Eternal Rest.

Douglas Church, one of the pioneer fathers of Sonoma Valley who came here in the early fifties and had attained the grand old age of 88 years, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Fuller, in San Francisco Tuesday. Mr. Church leaves a widow and large family to mourn his passing and besides is survived by four brothers, the eldest of whom is ninety years of age. William Church is the ninety year old brother and of this sturdy stock are also Sam Church aged 84, James Church of Salinas aged 77 and Andrew Church aged 75 years. They are all typical Americans born in Pennsylvania, and deceased even in his declining days bore the evidence of the fine physique and splendid features which made these brothers everywhere known as fine specimens of men. Endowed with high spirit and fine character Douglas Church's life was enriched by many warm friendships and the love and respect of a loyal helpmate and dutiful children. He reared his family here in Sonoma Valley whither he journeyed from the East via the Santa Fe trail in 1853 first settling in Suscol near Vallejo and later purchasing the Jack Davis place in this valley. Here he married Margaret Fowler and of this union nine children were born, eight of whom survive a beloved parent. The children are, Mrs. Annie Dickson, Mamie Mattern, Margaret Schell, Helen Schell, Eva Fuller, Alice McCauley, James Church and Wm. Church.

Of late years Mr. Church had retired from active farm life and had been ill, but some months ago he rallied and went to S. F. to visit his children and seemed improved in health and keenly interested in city life. Last Tuesday however the Angel of Death came to call him to the Great Beyond and he died at 3:30 at his daughter's home surrounded by his loved ones.

The funeral took place Thursday in San Francisco, interment being at Cypress Lawn where the late Fred Spaulding, his son-in-law, is also buried.

News of the death of Mr. Church was received here with sincere regret by many old time friends who extend condolence to Mrs. Church.

BYRON WEAVER IS MARRIED

Weds Mrs. G. W. Hooper After Return From Army Duties Over Seas

Byron Weaver, who has been in the army and seen service over seas, has been married since his return having wedded Mrs. G. W. Hooper Jr. last week. The bride is the divorced wife of a well known San Francisco hotelman who died of the influenza not long ago. Hooper and his wife had been separated a year when the fair young divorcee came to the valley on a summer outing and here met the young man whom she wedded last week.

Weaver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weaver and enlisted with the 91st Division of 316 Engineers. He participated in the battle of Argonne forest and brought back many souvenirs when he returned to marry "the girl he left behind him."

The bride is said to be very attractive and still very young as she was but a 15 year old girl off a mountain cattle range when she was wooed and won by her first husband then a civil engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will reside in San Francisco.

ASKS APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN FOR SHOEMAKER

Attorney G. W. Hoyle on Wednesday filed a petition in the superior court on behalf of Attorney J. W. Ford who seeks appointment as guardian of the estate of F. C. Frederickson, recently committed to the Mendocino state hospital. There is a shoe repairing shop with a complete equipment of machinery. Deputy Sheriff Marvin Robinson took the shoemaker to Ukiah Wednesday afternoon and reports that Frederickson was glad to return to the asylum, which he calls home, having been committed once before. He stated to the officials that he was there for a three-months' stay. —Santa Rosa Republican.

and the family in their bereavement.

Douglas Church traced his ancestry to Thos. Church, of a prominent family of England, who married a lady related to a former Prime Minister of that country. He was a direct descendant of William Warren Church of the estate of Oatlands, County Derry who had six sons and six daughters. Douglas Church was one of these sons.

The Church genealogy is an interesting one and the family crest is symbolic of peace.

SUCCUMBS TO LONG ILLNESS

Emile Pilastre, One of First El Verano Settlers, Passed Away Sunday

After suffering several years with arterial sclerosis or hardening of the arteries, Emile Pilastre, 68 years of age and old resident of El Verano, passed away Sunday. His death occurred at Santa Rosa where he had been receiving treatment for some time past. Although his family here were summoned to his bedside when death was imminent, they reached there too late and nothing remained for them but the sad mission of having the remains brought here for interment.

Mr. Pilastre was a native of sunny France having been born in Les Voges. When quite a young man he learned the trade of iron worker and later married his present widow in a little village where she was a textile worker. In France two children were born and the family then sailed from Berjon for the United States, settling in New Orleans.

In 1886 they came to El Verano. Mr. Pilastre's house being one of the first erected there during the famous boom days. He engaged in farming and there reared his family, four children in all being the result of the union with the estimable lady who is now bereaved by his passing. The children are Mrs. Wm. LEWIS HAS LIBEL CASE DISMISSED ON WEDNESDAY

The case against Walter Murphy and Celeste G. Murphy, charged in the Justice Court of Sonoma by George Lewis with criminal libel was dismissed by Mr. Lewis, when it was shown to him that the report published in the Sonoma paper was merely a reprint of matter published in the San Francisco papers, and that the publishers of the Sonoma Index-Tribune bore no malice towards Mr. Lewis. They are now pleased to reiterate the fact that they bear no malice or illwill towards him.

First In the Hearts of His Countrymen

Washington's Birthday this year is one of intense realization that all that the Father of His Country would have wished to see in the way of American triumphant has come to pass. Washington blazed the trail for liberty and set in motion and gave form to that wonderful spirit which has culminated in the voice for democracy for all people. The impetus which was given by Washington to this great movement was destined to reach beyond national lines and join forces with right and justice locked in bitter struggle with autocracy. How well we succeeded in deciding the conflict is best known by the mother country, by oppressed France and by battle scarred Belgium.

The mantle of George Washington descended upon shoulders worthy and capable of carrying on and upholding a great government of and by the people, and in dark hours of vicissitude, heroes and statesmen came forth from firesides characteristically American to "carry on" until war welded the United States, solidified and united in purpose—the United States which proved the deciding factor in the great and recent crisis.

Our debt to Washington we will continue to acknowledge and fittingly celebrate the nativity of this first and greatest of Americans.

"Drys" Are Enemies of Democracy

One of the basest slams we have yet seen in "The California Liberator," the organ of the "drys" is the unjust attack and one of the truth entitled "The Vineyard and Mr. Bell" in which is contained an attack on the standards and citizenship of our vineyardists and vineyard localities, specifically, Sonoma and Marin counties. In one paragraph the author of the shameful slam makes the following insulting and subtle allusion to the character of our grape men and wine producers—the author is Chas. F. Stern, California Bank Commissioner, a man whose business relations with our wine men leaves him no excuse or loophole when he says "that the wine grape industry of California represents invested capital and supports labor, no one will deny; so did the race track, the gambling halls, the red light districts." Having relieved himself of that much bilge water, he continues; "As a by-product of the wine grape industry in California, how about the condition that exists, unexploited by Mr. Bell, in Sonoma and Marin counties. Travel for miles along the State highway through the holdings of the Italian-Swiss Colony—the Asti Vineyards—and you travel through a Little Italy, a replica of agricultural Switzerland. You travel through communities where English is not spoken, where the ideals of America are unknown, where living standards are those of the Peon labor of Europe. Is it for this defiance to the ideals and standards which we are proud to maintain for American labor that Mr. Bell stands? Let his labor friends investigate this situation and answer in accordance with the facts."

The comparison of our wine industry with its acreage of beautiful vines, its luscious grapes and its vintage immortalized in poetry, song and the greatest of epics, to the race track, a sport and pastime, the gambling halls, artificial rendezvous of those who live by their wits, and the red light district, supported by the lustful and unfortunate is indeed "some" comparison—one actuated by the spleen and far fetched Christian consideration which has become synonymous with "dry" propaganda. This part of the diatribe is so obviously far fetched that it must fail of its attempt to convince even the most radical, if they possess any degree of fairness whatsoever. As to the attack on the Italian-Swiss Colony and other "Little Italy" portions of Sonoma county, that is as miserable a piece of writing as we have ever seen find its way into print, but the truth is gradually unfolding itself. Just sit up and take notice. The "drys" have racial hatred and have little use for foreigners any where they find them, and this, in this year of preachment of universal brotherhood and democracy. It is the narrow, provincial, thin lipped, rigid, Puritan spirit, the American autocrat who speaks thus, not the broad minded, liberal, joy loving, romantic, temperamental amalgamated, democratic christian American.

The article quoted is a dead give away and bears us out in our theory that the only use these reformers have for foreigners is to get their money. They are jealous of their prosperity and success and are not willing to compete with their thrift and frugality, their honesty and simplicity. They would put a crusher on them as competitors and have them leave this country as the Italian and French consuls tell us that their countrymen are doing now that confiscation of their property and abridgement of their liberty is held to be a just and legal phase of democracy in the United States.

Our foreign born or bred grape people may not speak English but their honor and honesty needs no translation. If "ideals of America" are of the mangy sort countenanced by some prohibitionists God deliver our practical foreigners from such idealism. As for peon European living standards which the critics of our vineyards deprecate would there was more of the rustic simplicity, frugality, thrift and desire to live within their means that obtains among our adopted people. Perhaps if there were, we would have a record of more honesty, more bills and obligations met, fewer job chasers and professional moralists, less of politics and more of legitimate effort to mind ones own business instead of uncalled for agitation, racial hatred and internal strife and rebellion which is pitifully at variance with all we have professed and all we have claimed for "the land of the free."

Owed to a Potato

The potato growers are asking state aid and an appropriation of $5000 to provide for a state inspector. What is known as a "Potato Certification Bill" is to be presented when the legislature meets again. As 5000 acres of spuds are raised in this county which could produce many more, the growers around Sebastopol including Sonoma Valley's former resident, Otto Gericks, have appealed to Senator Slater to use his influence for the passage of the bill. The growers in their appeal state that "the fruit growers who are producing a luxury are, and have, gotten a great deal of necessary aid from the state, but the lowly and humble potatoes have had nothing. Yet the potato is the staple food of the rich and poor alike, and must be kept a cheap commodity—which it cannot continue to—unless we have aid."

Verily these days of democracy cause even the lowly potato to look up and expect the recognition due it, for after all the farmers are right for is not to be despised by any means and is in as high favor at the fox trotter's table as at the bog trotter's table. The potato is never out of style, in fact it has as many styles as m'lady. Whether with the jacket on, or stripped for action, it has its accepted place on the bill of fare. When baked and piping hot from the oven, it is not only a gastronomic delight but a splendid stimulant to the butter trade. When baked brown, au gratin, French fried, O'Brien, shoestringed or mashed it is a diet delectable enough to grace any feast. Long may the potato live and prosper but to perpetuate it and make the business of potato growing worth while, the farmer must get aid and if our legislators will consider what an integral part the potato plays in our American families, they will surely hasten to extend every assistance to the men who till the soil in the production of this much to be desired, wholesome tuber.

HOLY! HOLY! HOLY. AND GRAVEL FOR ALL HOLES

Talk about a Tempest in a Tea Pot!

That high explosive, hot air attack on some of our city trustees was the real bunk

It is true that one city dad demurred to signing a bill for gravel

Which was the proper thing to do and his privilege, if he didn't know the whys and wherefores

But why turn a minor fracas in the municipal family into a windy discussion with hints of graft and irregularity

With accustomed gabblings on to any old lead however the Exploder tried to start something

But it died a-borning for when boiled down there was nothing to it

A little professional jealousy among our gravel sellers

A little indignation from one of our city dads that he had not been conferred with

And a whole of noise from Pius Pecksniffer

Because a brewery truck hauled the stuff. Ay! that's the rub

If a water wagon had carted the gravel there would have been nothing stirring

But Ye Gods! A brewery wagon to contaminate the rocks, verily that was the heinous offense

Evidently Pious forgot the precept about he who is without sin let him cast the first stone

Stone? He heaved rocks and mud until a veritable volcanic vocabulary over this street work gravel proposition was started.

Now as to gravel, materially speaking, we deprecate its use, but what's to be did?

A former ultra progressive Sonoma Board started a concrete street and you know the rest. Its there yet, what was built of it before the taxpayers protested.

Crushed rock was prohibitive when worst needed so gravel was the best bet and was used to fill in like we had to use barley flour not so very long ago.

Lets by all means recommend better material but let us cut out the tendency to air dirty linen in public

And kick up a row cause a brewery truck was pressed into service for hauling municipal gravel.

The brewery truck could haul prayer books without hurting the text.

As to the watch dog of the treasury? He may be a setter but he don't have to be a church setter, Pious in order to hold down his job or to get discovered by Diogenes.

The "dry" organ is always waiting to take a fall out of breweries, resort folks and canneries owned by wine men.

Have you noticed it? That's the answer!

Shoemaker Did Not

Stick to His Last

F. O. Frederickson, who has operated a shoe repairing shop on lower Fourth street about a year, was arrested Sunday evening while sitting on the courthouse curb, taking his shoes and stockings off. He has been acting in a peculiar manner for some days and will be examined as to his sanity. Officer Feliz made the arrest after having heard many reports of the eccentric doings of the man.

Fredericks is said to have been committed once before, but during his residence here was generally a quiet and law-abiding citizen. He had a large family of canary birds in the show-windows of his shop, and is accounted a good workman.

Monday the Rev. Father J. M. Cassin of Santa Rosa received a threatening letter from Frederickson. In the letter the man threatened the life of the reverend gentleman.

"I love you dearly, but don't you speak to me, or I will kill you like a dog," said the letter. Father Cassin very properly turned over the letter to the police authorities.

Frederickson formerly conducted a shoe repairing shop here and was committed to Ukiah. Upon his discharge he returned to Sonoma and renewed old acquaintanceships.

HUSKY SOLDIER BOY HOME AGAIN

Ben Brusky returned from a Virginia cantment last week after being in the army several months.

He was on his way over seas when the transport was called back at the signing of the armistice. Brusky says that the boys were puzzled when the boat changed its course as they were not told at the time that hostilities had ceased.

Ben looks fine and is as husky as ever. It is a safe bet that the hun would have "got his" if Brusky had ever clinched with 'em.

NEWS OF THE NAVY

Information was received at the Navy Recruiting Headquarters today that the Navy Department has made arrangements with the Treasury Department to have the third and fourth liberty loan bonds mailed by registered or insured mail to the owners of same during the month of February. Navy payments on the fourth installment of the fourth loan and the tenth installment of the third loan are now completed and the bonds will be mailed in alphabetical order without delay. Marine corps subscribers will receive their bonds direct from the paymaster of the marine corps in Washington.

It was announced today that the Navy Department had again let down the bars on the yeoman or clerical branch of the navy and the recruiting service is now seeking enlistments for the yeoman school.

The yeoman branch has been closed to civilians for several months and many were of the opinion that in view of the fact that so many yeoman (female) had entered the navy, enlistments in that department would not soon be resumed. Men who enlist for yeoman duty will be sent to the naval training station, San Francisco, California, where they will receive a thorough course of instruction in the duties of a yeoman aboard ship. Qualified applicants between the ages of 18 and 30 will be accepted for instruction as yeomen.

Information was received at the various naval offices today announcing that the Navy Department wished to correct the unofficial titles which had been given to women who had enrolled for clerical work in the naval reserve. The Navy Department stated that women will hereafter be known as yeomen (female) and not as yeowomen or yeomanettes, the two latter terms which had gradually come into common usage, being designated as unofficial.

During the last few months of the them as they passed in and out of Uncle Sam's navy offices, and call them "Yeomanettes" must now forget the term and cultivate the habit of calling them by their official title. Be it as it may, we must admit, however, that they surely do look attractive in their natty naval uniform, whether they are "yeomanettes" are not.

TOO WET SO BIGELOW—BLAKEMAN CASE GOES OVER

A case of high water swamping the law was intimated in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court on Monday by Attorney Roe M. Barrett.

The intimation came when Judge Seawell reached the case of G. J. K. Bigelow vs. T. Z. Blakeman on the regular calendar.

"This is a matter in which we have to measure a stream; we could hardly do that at this time when the stream is full," suggested Counsel Barrett. "Very well," said His Honor, "let it go over until February 24 and you can see then what you want to do."

This action is to prevent a diverting of the stream of water in question and this is claimed to be during the summer months and not during the rainy season when nature causes the springs and streams to flow easily and well.

"Justice is temporarily swamped," it was remarked in court, and as measurements must be taken of the stream, with so much depending on the amount of water in the outcome and decision of the case the depths cannot be sounded when the water flows a plenty as is now the case."

WOMEN OF WEST AGAIN CALLED TO THE COLORS

By MRS. A. S. BALDWIN, Chairman Woman's Liberty Loan Committee of the Twelfth Reserve District.

We have at the present time about two million men in Europe who must be provided with all that is necessary to keep them in good spirits and condition; and when their work shall have been finished, they must be brought home and demobilized. The Government must make good the contracts it has entered into for the construction of all war munitions, and for food supplies already bought.

Having responded to the Government's calls in the past, and having loaned our money ungrudgingly to hurry forward the men and supplies, and victory having come to us because of this, shall we hesitate for a moment to respond to the last call—the Victory Liberty Loan—when we can do so by pledging our credit, perhaps with some little personal inconvenience, sacrifice or small discomfort?

The blood of the young manhood of America is not now required. That was generously given before the armistice was signed, and now we may give thanks that no more will be taken.

The credit and good faith of our country is at stake. We have won the war, and the cost is small compared with what has been won. The men of the West with red blood in their veins will not need to be appealed to, because they will subscribe to this last call of the Government as ungrudgingly as they did in the past. There are others, however, who may not be so keenly and conscientiously alive to the duty of responding to the Nation's call, and it is to those that the women must direct their most untiring efforts.

This last call is truly a Victory Loan. What greater pride can men and women experience than in contributing to it? A Victory Bond will be worth more than its price expressed in dollars. Every one will be a badge testifying that the holder has helped his country to fulfill its pledge to those who have been spared as well as those who have made the supreme sacrifice.

QUOTAS OF LOAN WILL DEPEND ON WAR STAMPS SALES

Oversubscriptions of January and February Savings Campaign Allotments to Reduce Loan Task

Victory Liberty Loan quotas of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District are to be determined in some measure by the amounts loaned the government by each district in War Savings Stamps during January and February. If a district oversubscribes its War Savings Stamp quotas for the first two months of the year, its Victory Liberty Loan quota will be decreased to the extent of the oversubscription. Conversely, if a district fails to reach its January and February Stamp quotas, its Liberty Loan quota will be increased.

When Lewis B. Franklin, director of the War Loan Organization, was in San Francisco recently, he revealed that on the day the armistice was signed there was in progress in Washington a meeting to formulate plans for the continuous sale of Liberty Bonds—such a plan as governs the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps. Moreover, the Liberty Bond and War Stamps work was to be closely coordinated.

These plans were immediately discarded when the Germans signed the armistice and when Secretary of the Treasury Glass took office he announced that the Victory Liberty Loan would be the last. In the face of suggestions that the Victory Loan be put on a cold commercial basis, he added that the men making these suggestions were discounting the patriotism of the American people and he would depend upon the patriotism of the American people rather than place securities of the United States government upon a plane with the paper of private corporations.

The banks used to buy United States bonds bearing 2 per cent interest before the war. That's how good the credit of the United States is.

The $100 you put into a Victory Liberty Bond will be worth $125 plus interest when prices settle down. A dollar is worth what you can buy with it.

Better have the bonds of the United States in the hands of 30,000,000 ordinary citizens than concentrated in the hands of a few rich men. Think of that when Uncle Sam offers you a Victory Liberty Bond.

Don't think you have sacrificed because you may be paying for your interest-bearing Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds. These fellows back from France legless, armless or sightless don't think they have sacrificed. They simply think they did their duty.

The Victory Loan coming in April is the last Liberty Loan. Then the war is over for you. It will be still going on for 1,000,000 Americans in France.

HELP YOURSELF

More than 150 years ago Benjamin Franklin wrote: "Keep your shop and it will keep you." The stamp of greatness is on Franklin's philosophy because it was not alone of his time; it holds for all time.

Our ways have changed a bit in the economic life of this republic which the great Franklin helped to build. No longer may every man be his own shopkeeper. Most of us help keep some other fellow's shop and a certain element among the assistant shopkeepers have become restless because they have no shop themselves and call themselves I. W. W., Bolsheviks, and other names.

Nevertheless Franklin's homely saying is as true today and as easy to comply with as it was the day he uttered it. The United States government provides the way. War Savings and Thrift Stamps, conceived as a war measure and now backed by the government as a permanent policy, give every man, woman and child in America the chance to keep shop. Each person is allowed to put $1000 a year into the business—the business of American government. The business guarantees 4 per cent per annum compounded quarterly. It is the biggest business in the world. One can invest as low as 25 cents. The wonderful thing about it is that the investor helps his country as well as himself.

BODY OF DAIRYMAN RECOVERED

The body of Joseph Botani, who lost his life on the afternoon of Jan. 4th when the auto truck he was driving plunged off the landing at Lakeville, was found yesterday by two fishermen, E. C. Mathieson and E. J. Olsen. The remains were snaged against a rope which held a fishing boat to the river bank on the Sonoma county side of the river at the Black

Pt. draw bridge.

The coroner was notified and had the remains brought to the morgue where an inquest was held.

The features of the body were badly decomposed and he was identified through wearing apparel. Deceased leaves a widow and children and also a brother residing in Humboldt county. He was a native of Italy aged 34 years.

PERAZZO WAS ON SUBMARINES

Pete Perazzo, who conducted a blacksmith shop in Sonoma before the war and enlisted in the U. S. navy as a fireman on December 10th, 1917, has returned home after exciting adventure in the submarine service. Perazzo was first sent to Norfolk, Virginia and then transferred to the "crab fleet" cruise of 6 weeks. After this training he was at the Philadelphia navy yard for 3 weeks from whence he went to New York and shipped out with the "Standard Arrow," a big oil tanker. The tanker was carrying oil to the allies and after 20 days, Perazzo made the trip to the river Thames, England, and by rail he went to London and finally to Queenstown, Ireland.

His next service was destined to be with the submarines and he was attached to the mother of "subs", the "Bashnell", and later to Sub L II which was doing patrol duty in the Irish Sea. His U boat was in this vicinity prior to the signing of the peace terms. Pete led a fish like existence below the surface of the water most of the day time, coming up for periscope observation but seldom. On the surface the boats are propelled by gasoline but when submerged electricity is the motor power utilized. Perazzo looks none the worse for his experience but says old terra firma looks pretty good to him. He was discharged in Philadelphia and after a good rest in the sunny clime of California will settle in Sonoma.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD" FETTERS THEATRE MARCH 1

Somewhere on the plains of Picardy, in the very center of the shell torn sectors there used to stand an inn, where before the war housed a woman who was in the paid service of the German military office. This house left unscathed by the bombardment that destroyed the rest of village in which it stood, and its keeper was rewarded with large sums of money for her work in telephoning to the German lines the result of each bombardment.

In this very house, a little French girl whose parents had been killed when the waves of Prussian gray swept over France, secreted her lover, who had made his way from the French lines, under cover of darkness. The French were to attack at once, and all seemed safe for the couple who had believed each other dead until their chance meeting made it possible for them to hide themselves within the building until the attack might take the village.

But a prying soldier found their secret, and just as the hope of rescue seemed about to be realized, Hun soldiers surrounded the building and ordered the girl and boy to give themselves up as prisoners.

To the boy, surrender meant death as a spy. To the girl it meant far worse than death. And in the barren room, within the sound of the French barrage guns, she prayed to him to kill her, then himself.

That is but one of the stories of little tragedies of the great war. It is told in "Hearts of the World", the great Griffith war drama that is coming to Fetzers Theatre next Saturday night.

AN APOLOGY

Through a regrettable error the name of Frank Bosch, a young patriot for whom a gold star is in Sonoma's service flag, was omitted from an article on "Sonoma Boys Who Gave Their Lives For Their Country" in our last issue.

Frank Bosch saw active service over seas and died of wounds received in battle. He was the son of Capt. Peter Bosch of Vineburg and was born in this valley. The community reveres his name and will never forget the sacrifice he made in the world's great war.

The "Index-Tribune" apologizes for the oversight of last week.

FEBRUARY MEETING OF O. E. S. FOLLOWED BY JOLLY VALENTINE SOCIAL

The Valentine Social following the first meeting of the Eastern Star under the direction of Worthy Matron Burmester was a very enjoyable affair. Every detail was nicely carried out and the table in the banquet room with the decoration of almond blossoms, soft shaded lights, strings of red hearts and floral baskets tied with red maline was a symposium of beauty. The table itself was provided with dainty valentine favors, plates, doilies and napkins in cupid design and in the "eats" the color scheme was carried out too, red maraschino cherries decorating the bounteous fruit salad, and a mammoth cake being decked with red hearts of candy. There were also other cakes, confections and coffee.

After the refreshments, games were inaugurated, the first being the cutting of a mammoth prize cake containing everything from an engagement ring to a diminutive nursing bottle. Mrs. Helayne Johanssen, one of the pioneer members, cut the cake and the serving caused much merrymaking.

About 45 members were present.

OWNERS AFFECTED BY DRY LAW MAY BE EXEMPT

Owners of vineyards, wineries, distilleries, breweries and other properties that will be affected by national prohibition may avoid taxation of half their holdings this year and the rest next year, in the opinion of Louis H. Mooser Jr., income-tax expert.

A provision of the new revenue law says: "A reasonable allowance will be permitted for the exhaustion and wear and tear on property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

"No previous law contained such a provision," Mooser said yesterday. "It will permit owners of wineries and similar properties to charge off for the year 1918 one-half the value of their holdings as carried for the tax year 1918, and the rest next year. The measure will compensate to a certain extent for the confiscation of their properties. The winemakers made great profits in 1918, and will make them this year." — Chronicle.
